On Friday 8 June we are holding a non uniform day to raise funds for St Chads Church car park. Children can come to school dressed in their own clothes and donate £1.00 to help improve the condition of the Church car park. As you are aware they kindly allow us to use their car park when dropping and picking up the children. Thank you for your kind and generous support in this matter.

Social Media

We have received a number of complaints from parents regarding the inappropriate use of social media where comments about children, other parents or staff have been posted. Any concerns must be addressed via the appropriate channels. We have attached the Parents Code of Conduct where more information is available (Appendix 1).

Science at Hollyfield continues to go from strength to strength! What a delight it has been to hear such positive comments from children and parents about the recent Mad Science afterschool club that has taken place. It was also great that so many children took part in the marble run Easter Science project and "Science Selfie" family learning task too. Sharing the love of science with family is amazing - thank you parents and carers for your support. Hollyfield is proud to be part of the Great Science Share on 19 June, a National campaign to encourage and promote sharing science with a new audience. As part of what we share we are asking any parents or friends of our school who have a science related job or hobby to come into school or share a photo and a caption about the relevance of science in what they do. It would be fantastic if we could get lots of people involved in this event. A letter will be sent out after half term with more details and how you can become involved!

Father's Day

Please pop along and join us to celebrate our Father's Day Picnic on:

 This week has been "Mental Health Week". Mental Health affects even the strongest of characters. Two websites that can offer help, support or advice regarding mental health are:

https://www.mind.org.uk https://www.mentalhealth.org.uk.

Congratulations and best wishes to our newest Royal couple who tie the knot this Saturday.

Well done Year 6 for all your hard work this week!! Please now have a nice relaxing weekend.
